Private-sector credit continues double-digit growth

In July 2012 the nominal annual rate of growth of the total balance of commercial bank lending to the private sector was 15.1%. This rate is lower than in the preceding month (16.1%) and higher than the same month of 2011 (14.5%). It should be stated that this area of credit is showing nominal annual positive growth (28 months) since April 2010 and that it has shown double-digit growth since February 2011. In addition, in July its three main categories (consumer finance, residential mortgages, and corporate lending) also posted annual nominal growth in double digit figures.

- Consumer finance: in July, this area's annual nominal growth continued to exceed 20%

In July 2012, the nominal annual growth rate of consumer finance was 22.7%. This rate was lower than in the preceding month (23.1%) and higher than the same month of 2011 (18.4%). The nominal annual growth rates for the three components of consumer finance in July were: other consumer finance, which includes payroll loans, 35.3%; credit cards, 15.9%; and loans for the purchase of consumer durables, 9.2%. The "Other Consumer Finance" category underwent rapid growth in 2011, and in December of that year its nominal annual growth rate was 47.5%. This pace has been moderating during 2012, to reach the aforementioned 35.3% in July.

- Corporate lending: in July rapid growth continued and was 13.3%

In July the annual growth rate of corporate lending in nominal terms was 13.3%. This rate was lower than for the preceding month (14.8%) and for the same month of 2011 (14.5%). It is worth noting that in the first six months of 2012, the nominal annual average growth rate was 12.8%, while the figure for the same period in 2011 was somewhat lower, at 12.6%.

- Housing: in July nominal annual growth in mortgage lending was 11.1%, the highest in 2012%.

In July 2012, nominal annual growth in mortgage lending was 11.1%. This rate was higher than for the preceding month (11%) and for the same month in 2011 (7.7%). The growth of mortgage lending in the first seven months of 2012 has been better than during the same period in 2011, given that the average nominal annual growth rate registered in those months during 2012 was 10.8%, compared to 8.1% in 2011.
