Javier Amador Principal Economist, Mexico javier.amadord@bbva.com + 5255 5621 3095 Today we expect the financial traders survey in Chile to reveal expectations of a 25bp cut at the next MP meeting, while inflation in Mexico for the month of March is expected to fall compared to the level registered in February.

Mexico - The unemployment rate increased in line with our expectations

Unemployment came in at 4.80% in March 2014 (vs. 4.65% in February) in line with our above-consensus forecast (BBVAe: 4.85%; consensus: 4.46%). The result was mainly driven by an increase in the Economically Active Population (EAP) from 57.83% in March 2013 to 58.81% in March 2014

What to watch today

Chile - Central Bank Financial Traders Survey (2nd fortnight in April, 07:30hrs, NYT)

We expect the survey to reveal inflation estimates of +0.1% MoM for April and expectations of a 25bp cut in policy rates at May's meeting. Long-term inflation expectations should remain anchored to the central bank's 3% target, while the exchange rate forecast should reveal a slight depreciation towards USDCLP 565 on a 3-month horizon.

Mexico - Inflation (1st fortnight in April, 09:00hrs NYT)

We anticipate headline inflation will fall 0.12% FoF in the first half of April, edging down in annual terms to 3.59% from 3.76% in March. For core inflation we forecast a FoF rise of 0.06%, equivalent to 2.95% in annual terms (vs. 2.89% in March).
